

Security Market Applications

Standex Electronics plays a pivotal role within the security sensing applications inside and outside your home. Detection motion, security panels, controls, lighting, alarms, window and door locks, alert systems, and numerous other examples of home/security products are strengthened through the reliable high-quality reed switches, relays, and sensors within the products our parts are within. Our “smart” sensors also include various lines from magnetics and fluid level sensors.

Give us a hello@standexelectronics.com

